BIC OFFERS HOTELING MEMBERSHIP

When the noise of a crowded restaurant or coffee house is making it difficult to finish your proposal or meet with a client, Coworking or Hoteling is an option you might consider. BIC's Hoteling Membership offers the conveniences of a professional office, complete with the tools and the space you need to do business the right way.

Benefits of BIC Hoteling membership include:

- Use of "office space" at the Birmingham International Center on an as-needed basis, requiring reservation for use, and limited to not more than 16 hours a week per individual. Available office space at the BIC is defined as a conference room, a classroom, and a multi-purpose room. The spaces are available for personal business use and small meetings. Items provided include a work surface, access to Wi-Fi internet, a fax machine, and a color copier machine (number of photocopies limited to 50 per week). Computers are not provided.
- Free admittance to BIC's International Business after Hours Events throughout the year. These events feature speakers knowledgeable in international business and attract members of the local and international business community, as well as students. Events usually last 2 hours and include one hour of networking. Refreshments are available.
- One complimentary ticket to a Spotlight related event.
- Reduced admission to social events at the center, including wine tastings or performances.
- Recognition in donor listings.

Membership Fee: $100 yearly
